Raising digital natives requires a different set of parenting skills. Learn how to navigate increased screen time and online interactions, and collaborate with them on setting effective boundaries.

Get equipped to understand your unique child to facilitate empowering parent-child conversations about media consumption, and reconnect with your child by harnessing the potential of technology.

Trainer:

Ee Jay is a trained counsellor and has conducted over 350 parenting workshops since 2007. He has also appeared on expert panels for Chinese and English media interviews.
